

Taylor sworn in before large hometown crowd

BY D.C. HARVILL

Accompanied by his young daughters, Sarah and Emily, Gene Taylor was officially sworn in Tuesday as Mississippi's Fifth District congressman and the nation's newest member of the House of Representatives.

Approximately 180 Taylor supporters and family members, who traveled to the nation's capital by plane or train for the event, viewed the short ceremony from a visitor's gallery overlooking the floor of the House.

Taylor, a Democratic state senator from Bay St. Louis when elected, defeated Republican Tom Anderson with 65 percent of the vote in an Oct. 17 runoff election.

The election was held to fill the seat left vacant when Rep.

Larkin Smith died in an August 13 plane crash.

After being administered the oath of office by Speaker of the House Thomas Foley, D-Wash., the new congressman received a standing ovation from the Mississippians gathered in the gallery.

"He had the people with him...He has a splendid record...and I want to welcome him, his three children and his wife, Margaret," veteran Mississippi Representative Jamie Whitten told the assembled legislators and spectators.

After taking the oath, Taylor took the microphone saying, "I want to thank the people of Mississippi for giving me the opportunity to serve them...I am proud to be a representative in a nation that does not forget its senior citizens, the very people who made this country great, a nation that respects all human life, a nation that is not afraid to say 'In God we trust'.

After the ceremony, the new legislator was whisked to the Speaker's chamber where he and Foley fielded questions from the press.

With Taylor's election, a Democrat fills each of Mississippi's five congressional seats.

"I'm always delighted to swear in a new member, but it's a special pleasure to swear in a Democratic member, Foley told the media.

Taylor, a conservative Democrat, however, said he planned to oppose the party's leadership Wednesday by voting against a motion to overrule the presidential veto of a bill granting medi-

The speculation ended at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Eight people qualified to run in the Nov. 7 special election called to fill the District 46 Mississippi Senate seat left vacant by Gene Taylor.

The deadline for qualification was 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Taylor resigned from the position upon winning the Fifth District U.S. Congressional office in a run-off election last week.

High on the candidates' list of issues are educational reform, preventing NASA's from testing Advanced Solid Rocket Motors (ASRM) at Stennis Space Center, bringing jobs to the Coast, and drug education and enforcement.

—Republican Gordon Boh, 29, administrative assistant to Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre, said he has to see the district grow in industry, education and quality of life.

Boh, a St. Stanislaus High School graduate and college student, is opposed to gun control, abortion and all forms of gambling. He would like to see a constitutional reform and a thinning of government agencies in Mississippi.

Emergency services check preparedness

BY DENA BISNETTE

Local emergency service agencies got the chance to test their preparedness Tuesday by working mock disaster scenarios in three locations.

At a critique meeting after the disaster drill, Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin stated that a few things had gone wrong. However, he added that the purpose of drills is to find out what emergency personnel have not been trained to do in order to prepare for an actual incident.

The drill began with a call at about 9 a.m. stating that a tornado had touched down and an employee at the G.E. Plastics plant at Port Bienville Industrial Park had been injured.

Dispatchers stated during radio communications that the situation was a drill.

A Mobile Medic Ambulance, staffed by two EMT-paramedics, responded to the call, but stopped before getting to the G.E. plant to care for about 15 members of Retired Senior Volunteers Program, who were acting as injured tornado victims.

The two paramedics went through a triage procedure, guided by descriptions of symptoms and rubber "injuries" taped to the RSVP members as they determined what each injury was and who should receive treatment first.

While that was in progress, a sheriff's department deputy

Lombardos returning

Two women facing murder charges in the Dec. 25, 1985, death of Bay St. Louis resident Frank Lombardo were scheduled to return to the Gulf Coast late Wednesday.

Fran Lombardo, 40, wife of the slain man, and daughter Mari Elizabeth Lombardo, 21, had refused to waive extradition procedures after they were arrested Aug. 15 in Orange County, Calif.

Police Chief Ray Murphy had flown to California to pick up the two women and planned to schedule an initial appearance for the women before Judge Jerry O. Terry some time today.

Frank Lombardo's burned body was found in his Bay St. Louis residence after a fire. He had been shot once in the head and once in the chest.

ON PATROL

MAN ARRESTED IN KNIFE ASSAULT

One of two Shoreline Park residents who apparently got into a fight after a vehicular accident Sunday was injured, while the other was arrested and charged with aggravated assault.

According to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda, Charles Jordan Jr., 29, was arrested by Deputies Terry Roberson and Bill Pepperman at Todd's on Highway 603, where the incident occurred.

He is accused of using a pocketknife to attack Gordon Bean, who was sent to Hancock Medical Center for treatment and was released, Hoda added.

Bond for Jordan has been set at $5,000.

BIENVILLE BURGLARY SOLVED

Authorities have arrested one person in connection with a Sept. 29 burglary at a Bienville Community residence.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Nathan Hoda said Tim Moseley, 33, of Picayune, was arrested Friday and charged with one count of burglary.

Authorities recovered one microwave oven. Other items taken but not yet recovered included a central air conditioning unit, a water pump, a television set with VCR and a record player.

SUSPECTS RETURNED FROM FLORIDA

Two suspects in a Sept. 22 incident in the Caesar community have been returned to Hancock County by Florida authorities.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator said the two men were returned to Mississippi Tuesday after having signed a waiver of extradition.

They are currently identifying themselves Brian English, 32, and Johnny Jones, 31, and claim to be from the Tampa, Fla., area, Hoda said. However, he added that checks being run on the two men Wednesday indicated that they may not have given their correct names to the Florida authorities.

Hoda said the men were arrested in Crestview, Fla., on Sept. 22, after totalling a Lincoln in a traffic accident.

The car was identified as having been taken from a Caesar residence in an incident the same day. The resident reported that he had returned home to find two men in the house, who hit him in the head and took his wallet and the Lincoln.

English and Jones are charged with auto theft, burglary of a dwelling, aggravated assault and grand larceny, the investigator said.

Bond will be set today at an initial appearance hearing before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein.

Disaster

and a Mobile Medic operations manager arrived at the scene.

While the deputy went down the road toward the G.E. plant to check on a tanker truck by the side of the road, the Mobile Medic representative took command at the triage site because no fire department had arrived yet and paramedics in Mississippi, under standard procedure, always recognize the senior fire officer as being in charge of the scene.

After a second deputy arrived, a second pair of ambulance personnel were "killed" by toxic chemicals after their vehicle was allowed to pass the tanker on its way to the G.E. plant.

A group of firefighters, including several from Waveland and nearby volunteer departments, then arrived and were faced with the problem of identifying the chemical in the truck to determine what precautions should be taken.

The firefighters, most of whom were in partial gear but were, for the purposes of the drill, designated as wearing air-packs, attempted to close the leaking valve on the truck. They tried to find the driver of the unoccupied vehicle and its shipping papers, then turned to reference books to look up the chemical identification number on the vehicle's side.

G.E. Plastics, which had already implemented its own emergency plan to care for the "injured" worker there, went through the motions of notifying a helicopter rescue service to get an estimated time of arrival for transportation of the "patient" but did not actually have the helicopter fly in during the exercise.

While this was going on, the RSVP "victims" were transported to the Hancock Medical Center emergency room.

The exercise ended as firefighters identified the chemical and gave the order to clear a half-mile radius of the truck.

While the ambulances were tied up at Port Bienville, Bay St. Louis firefighters and police officers arrived at Bay High School, responding to a call that a tornado had touched down and injured an unspecified number of people.

They found 21 "injured" students, most of them moaning and screaming, on the lawn of

United Way needs the help of many, benefits thousands

The United Way of Hancock is in the midst of the 1989 campaign to fund 20 agencies in 1990.

The United Way this year celebrates a 25th anniversary of serving the needs of the citizens of Hancock County.

The campaign this year is dedicated in honor of Mrs. May Beyer, who has served as the executive secretary of the United Way of Hancock County since the organization's inception 25 years ago.

The goal for the 1989 campaign is $100,000, a $30,000 increase over 1988's. Stephen Planchard, manager of Hancock Bank's Diamondhead Branch, is campaign chairman.

Records list the following persons as attending the first United Way meeting in Hancock County: Mrs. Theo Tudury, Allan Sarrat, Walter Turcotte, Tom Logue, Warren Carver, Charles Carter Jr., Powell Glass Jr., W. Ray Gordon and Mrs. C.R. (May) Beyer.

The organization was first known as the United Fund and this was later changed to United Way.

The first agencies in Hancock County were, Boy Scouts (Cypress District), Girl Scouts (Gulf Pines Council), Retarded Children, Red Cross (Hancock Chapter), Blood Bank and (Gulf Coast) Mental Health.

As campaign contributions increased over the years, the number of deserving agencies were added and also the amounts increased for agency members.

In order for the United Way to continue to grow in Hancock County, it has taken the volunteer services of hundreds of persons to make this possible along with the generosity of thousands of citizens.

As our community has grown, so has the United Way in the number of agencies funded.

Boy Scouts, Girls Scouts, Blood Bank and Mental Health are still agencies of the United Way of Hancock County.

The agencies include, Catholic Social Services, Epilepsy Foundation of Mississippi, Goodwill Industries, Gulf Coast Woman's Center, Hancock County Emergency Relief, Hancock County Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund and Hancock County Food Pantry.

Other agencies are Parents and Professionals of Exceptional Children, Pierre The Pelican, Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP), St. Michael's Farm for Boys, St. Vincent de Paul, Salvation Army, Senior Citizens Programs and U.S.O. Worldwide.

As you can see the United Way of Hancock County touches thousands of citizens each year, from pre-birth to the grave.

The United Way of Hancock County needs your help now in order to reach a goal of $100,000.

If you, your company or business would like to help the campaign in any way, please call 467-9501, or write United Way of Hancock County, P.O. Box 142, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

Troopers fly red ribbons as anti-drug reminder

State troopers are seeing red in support of a drug free Mississippi! Their anti-drug stand is represented by a red ribbon displayed on Mississippi Highway Patrol enforcement vehicles.

"We are tying red ribbons to the left rear view mirror or the radio antenna of enforcement vehicles to call attention to the 'National Red Ribbon' campaign that is underway in Mississippi," said Commissioner of Public Safety Louisa O. Dixon.

"We have faith that continuous anti-drug reminders will have the same positive results that the national 'stop smoking campaign' has had.

Years ago, when the stop smoking campaign got underway, health care givers could never have imagined what a positive effect the repetitive warning would have on non-committed smokers. Even with a population increase in the United States, health experts say there has been a significant decrease in the number of tobacco smokers.

"We hope to influence casual drug users through repetitive reminders about the long-range damage drug abuse causes to

Dear Editor,
We are overjoyed to announce a victory for animal lovers and all moral people in Hancock County! We have been informed that as of the opening of school this year, the Hancock North Central High School will no longer be dissecting cats. We wish to heartily thank

Mr. Terrell Randolph, Hancock County Superintendent of Education, for listening to our side of the story and the actions that he has taken in bringing about this change in school activities.

Bay Fire Department commended by Girl Scouts

Dear Editor,
We would like to take a moment to publicly thank the Bay St. Louis Fire Department for their help in preparing us for what our futures may hold. On becoming a Girl Scout, we make the Girl Scout Promise. We promise that, "On my honor, I will try to serve God and my country, to help people at all times, and to live by the Girl Scout Law."

The Bay St. Louis Fire

Department presented a very interesting and informative program for our troop. They have also offered to give all of us C.P.R. training so we may be prepared in the event of an emergency. We are all now better prepared to face our futures, whatever they may hold. Many thanks to our wonderful fire department.

Sincerely,
Corliss K. Pursley, leader
Girl Scout Troop '066

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

B. Ellis C. Cuevas

It was good to see so many young folks helping at the fitness track last Saturday afternoon.

The Rotary Interact Club of Bay High School was well represented, and the organization also served refreshments and snacks.

There were other volunteers, including several members of Bay High's Honor Society and even some youngsters as young as age four.

Thanks to everyone for their help, as their efforts are really appreciated.

On Saturday at 3 p.m. there will be a Halloween Walk at the Hancock County Fitness Track.

There will be an entry fee of $2 per person, and funds raised will be used to help in the landscaping of the track.

There will be prizes for the best Halloween costumes for a child, family and an adult. Drawings will also be held for door prizes.

Refreshments will be served courtesy of the Hancock Medical Center and Halloween treats for children will add to the fun.

It sounds like it will be a good time at the track Saturday and I hope there will be many who will come join in the fun.

Early risers do not want to forget the Chamber of Commerce's Morning Coffee at 7:30 a.m. at the Wheel Inn Restaurant.

The chamber event is sponsored by MAR, Inc. Guest speaker will be Marvin W. Lawley, program director for Grumman Data Systems.

The program sounds interesting. I hope to see you there.

I talked to Betsy Ashman, team walk chairman for the March of Dimes WalkAmerica held last Saturday, and she reports the walk netted about $7,000.

I watched as the crowd gathered for the walk. There were more than 200 people who made the trek.

Bay Tech was well represented with more than 100 participants. I also saw several folks from G.E. Plastics as well as Coast Electric.

I am glad so many took the time to help in the March of Dimes fundraiser. I know Sheriff Ronald Peterson, March of Dimes county chairman, was well pleased.

The big area game in high school football this week will be between the Hawks of Hancock North Central, when they play host to the Tiger of Bay High.

Hancock has only one blemish on their record this season and should be a heavy favorite over the young Tigers.

Yet, in previous years, the favorite has not always walked away with a victory, as both teams are usually up for the annual contest.

This could be a very low-scoring game, or then again, it could be a run-away.

The Rock-A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus will journey this week for a visit to Pearl River Central.

Stanislaus should be ready for Pearl River and with a good overall performance take another victory.

The Pirates of Pass Christian will travel to Vancleave and this should be a pretty evenly matched game.

The Pirates with a few good bounces of the ball could add another victory to their record against Vancleave.

Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m. and we hope to see you at the game.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

City, county consolidation would increase efficiency

Dear Editor:

We constantly hear complaints about high taxes, drugs, crimes, and the inadequacies of our public school system. As a resident of Bay St. Louis for 25 years, and having raised four children here, I understand and sympathize.

The citizens of Harrison County have the same concerns and recently paid for a study of public services which showed that approximately $10,000,000 per year could be saved by consolidation of several city and county efforts. We have the same situation existing in Hancock County.

High taxes can only be lowered by cutting services or improving the efficiency of government. Before we consider cutting any services let us look at some areas, in Hancock County, where efficiency might be improved.

1. Schools: We presently support two school systems with the corresponding overhead for a population of about 35,000 people. This total population would normally be considered barely able to support one system. Our total county population is about the same size as the City of Pascagoula. Two systems just do not make any sense.

Think of the cost savings and improvements which could be realized by consolidated systems. There would be less overhead, a more efficient volume purchasing department, fewer school buses needed, shorter rides for students, improved special education, the ability to offer a stronger, more varied curriculum for a larger student body, more efficient use of existing facilities, and on and on.

These are only a few of the immediately obvious improvements and cost savings. We would even have a stronger athletic program!

In the past, when consolidation was mentioned, the disparity of the two systems was always used as the primary reason for separation. This is no longer the case.

If you read the results of the A.C.T. college entrance scores published last week, both school systems were about identically bad and getting worse.

Newspaper coverage helped St. Jude fundraiser succeed

To the Editor:

You were an important part in making the St. Jude Children's research Hospital Wheels for Life Bike-A-Thon a success.

We're proud of the 24 riders, volunteers and the citizens of Diamondhead. Thanks to you and to them, we raised more than $1,800.

Because of the universal

We are below the national and area scholastic averages.

We would be well advised to consider school consolidation seriously at this time, for our children's sake.

2. Law Enforcement: At present, we have Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and Hancock County law enforcement agencies serving the same 35,000 people mentioned above.

The county agency (Sheriff's Department) works out of the center of Bay St. Louis, and must drive many miles from their base before they are in their area of responsibility. While they must drive in and out of Waveland and Bay St. Louis, they only function outside the city limits.

Bay St. Louis and Waveland police forces are generally restricted to the city limits. Neither city has jail facilities.

Why not consolidate all three departments into a single agency? A specific number of deputies could be assigned to each city, and we would have better coordination, better law enforcement, and reduced costs, or we could have more police protection for the same total cost.

There are many other areas we might examine to either improve services or cut costs by consolidation. We, who live in the cities, are being doubly taxed in paying for the same services from the city and county. We pay twice for roads, bridges, culverts, recreational facilities, drainage, sewerage, and many other services. We could save money by consolidating the water, utilities, fire protection, and garbage collection in Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

In Harrison County, there is great concern about the difficulty of consolidation due to breaking up long established political fiefdoms. I believe that our political leaders in Hancock County are wise enough to overcome this problem.

Let's combine our efforts for a more efficient government at less cost. Talk to our elected officials and tell them the time has come to make some positive changes.

Sincerely,
Paul Vegas
Bay St. Louis

EPA does not regulate hydrochloric acid

To the Editor:

Based on NASA's fact sheet, published Oct. 19, I get the impression that we, the people of Hancock County, are to feel honored that we have been chosen to have 175 tons of aluminum oxide dust and 275 tons of hydrogen chloride dumped on us.

Yes, it is true that aluminum is naturally found in our soil, but with hydrochloric acid that will form from the high humidity in our area, the aluminum could dissolve and leak into our groundwater.

It is also possible to inhale the very fine aluminum particulates that will be emitted.

The two-hour weather prediction is also a joke. Remember, that premise may serve well for the tests previously done in Utah at a 4,000 ft. elevation at 10-20 percent humidity with very low populations in the vicinity of the tests, but not here; not with forests, wetlands, farms and large numbers of people, schools and buildings nearby.

I get overwhelmed with this. Hydrochloric acid has no regulations by EPA. So when NASA's fact sheet says they will follow the letter of the law, they are right. No specifications need be met for hydrochloric acid if there are no regulations. Interesting. Acid rain will definitely be with us, regardless of what they say. It could take that cloud of gases hours to move. It will move with prevailing winds.

If it moves to Harrison County in two hours and a rain storm—unpredicted—occurs, you got it; rain, acid in nature via NASA's test done two hours earlier. Or the wind could blow over New Orleans, Pearlington, etc., etc.

I feel that my rights have been violated. Yes, the space program has always been a source of pride, and I have been an advocate, but not to the point that I will accept NASA's 400 tons of concentrated hydrochloric acid. This is the most insidious of acids. Any chemist and/or scientist will tell you that. This cannot be done without immediate damage. Long-term testing will yield severe damage, close and far away.

I try to stay calm. But it's hard knowing that their "facts" are not all encompassing. They leave out little things that make a big difference. My fate is in someone else's hands. That does not comfort me or make me feel calm.

Boh announces candidacy for District 46 Senate seat

Gordon Boh of Bay St. Louis has announced his candidacy for the District 46 Mississippi Senate seat vacated by U.S. Congressman Gene Taylor.

Boh, a Republican, currently serves as administrative assistant to Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre. He is an active enlisted member of the 20th Reserve Naval Construction Regiment (Seabees).

He is a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School and attended Jefferson Davis Community College and the University of New Orleans.

Boh is the son of Kay Wolfe of Bay St. Louis and the late Bob Boh, and the grandson of the late Roger and Rita Boh and the late Ray and Marie Gordon, of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, respectively.

He is married to the former Mary Rowlett and has two small children.

Boh lists as a priority issue more good paying jobs for Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties. "I have a young family and plan to make Mississippi our permanent home. By providing more good paying jobs, our children won't have to leave the state to seek employment," he said.

"I would like to see a small craftsman association developed to assist businesses with one to five employees—to serve as a skilled trade association. I will work for laws to protect small businessmen.

"Education should be number one. We need to lower our at-risk students, the illiteracy and teen pregnancy rates. I would like to see more night programs available in college along with basic skills training for adults.

"I will work to increase funding for more research to protect the Gulf Coast's natural seafood resources and work with the 1990 census to ensure that everyone is counted to help Jackson County to obtain their own senatorial district.

"I support adoption instead of abortion and tax breaks for mothers who choose to stay home with their children. I would like to see Highway 603 widened," he said.

Elmer Tapper seeks State Senate seat

Diamondhead resident Elmer R. Tapper announced his candidacy for state senator to fill the vacancy created in District 46 by the election of Gene Taylor to Congress.

Tapper cited his 37 years as an attorney in the active practice of law throughout the state of Louisiana and his 20 years of public service in the judicial, executive and legislative branches of state government.

The former state representative served 12 years as a legislator in the Louisiana House of Representatives, four years as assistant attorney general, four years as an attorney in the executive department.

As a delegate to the Louisiana Constitutional Convention, he helped re-write the Louisiana State Constitution and as a state representative for 12 years, Tapper helped write most of the state's laws on the books today.

Tapper is a graduate of the University of Southwestern Louisiana with bachelor of arts degree in political science and from Loyola University in New Orleans with a law degree. Tapper also studied accounting at Tulane University and oil and gas law at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, and Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge.

He is a veteran of the Korean War. He served as an attorney in the U.S. Army Legal Department, giving legal advice to servicemen from all branches of the service.

Tapper said, "I pledge to utilize my legislative law-making experience to encourage, promote and enact into law legislation dealing with environmental control, narcotics education, enforcement and rehabilitation; fiscal responsibility; employment and job security and protection of our fishing industry.

"My many years in the legislature serving on the Ways and Means, Appropriations and Budget Committees have fortified me with a thorough knowledge of fiscal responsibility in government and business.

"South Mississippi, now more than ever before, needs qualified, experienced, dedicated and full-time representation in the Senate.

"I am the only candidate who can fill this need. I solicit your vote and support on Nov. 7," Tapper said.

During the week of Oct. 22-29, trooper cars across Mississippi will display the red ribbons, provided to the Highway Patrol by the Drug Research Education Association of Mississippi (DREAM), in observance of National Red Ribbon Week.

Between January and August, state troopers have confiscated 2,315.3 pounds of marijuana and approximately 6.2 pounds of cocaine while enforcing traffic laws on state and federal highways.

"I have always been against federal funding of abortions. I've always strived to be a person of my word," Taylor said.

Supporters and fellow members of Mississippi's Washington delegation gathered to congratulate Taylor at a reception following the ceremony.

The freshly sworn in lawmaker was ushered from the party by his campaign manager, Chuck Benvenuti, so that he could be on the House floor in time to cast his first vote.

At a party the previous evening, Taylor said, "The only thing I want to do is be the best congressman Mississippi ever had...I will never forget who I am and who sent me here."

Bay St. Louis Mayor Edward Favre presented Taylor, a former Bay St. Louis city councilman, with a plaque declaring Oct. 23 Gene Taylor Day.

Taylor has selected Cindy Newman, a former employee of Third District Congressman G.V. "Sonny" Montgomery and lobbyist, as his legislative aide. Carter Bise, a Gulfport attorney and member of the State Democratic Executive Committee, will manage his Washington office.

Longtime Taylor friend and campaign worker Beau Gex of Waveland will operate a mobile office throughout the state.

Disaster

the school, where firefighters with EMT and First Responder training conducted triage because, for the purposes of the exercise, no ambulances were available.

Bay St. Louis utility personnel participated due to a "report" that broken gas and water lines at the school were leaking.

At Diamondhead, Diamondhead Fire Department called for assistance under a mutual aid agreement with adjacent volunteer fire departments because a tanker truck carrying anhydrous ammonia, which creates a hazardous vapor cloud, had jackknifed on the Interstate 10 exit ramp.

To complicate matters, the scenario also included a gasoline truck coming from Diamondhead marina which hit the ammonia truck, rupturing both tanks.

The situation was reported with a motorist's "call" to Diamondhead Security. Almost immediately, emergency personnel had to cope with a fire when shorted wires on one of the trucks caused the gasoline to ignite.

Observers for the drill included several department heads who made themselves "unavailable" for the day in order to find out how their personnel would implement emergency procedures in their absence.

Few people, other than the observers, G.E. Plastics Manager of Environment Dennie Dowell and the personnel who prepared the trucks, were notified ahead of time about the exact date of the drill, Boudin said.

At a planning meeting last week, all department heads were told it would take place this week but not that it would be on Tuesday.

Some, like Waveland Police Department, were placed on standby but were not actually used when an evacuation situation did not come up in the Diamondhead area.

A few communications problems were pointed out during the exercise. In addition, Boudin said evacuation plans for the two sites with the chemical trucks could have been brought up but were not.

The department heads and participants at the critique meeting also indicated that the county does not have the proper equipment to deal with hazardous chemical spills, although Diamondhead Fire Department was among the emergency services dealing with spilled aviation fuel after a Saturday accident on I-10.

In some cases, such as the tornado at Bay High where four people responded to the first call, more personnel were needed.

Much of the discussion at the critique dealt with setting up emergency operations command posts to coordinate and oversee emergency procedures, and Boudin said he is planning a training session on that matter for department heads.

The drill is mandated each year by several agencies, including the State Civil Defense Office.

Top priorities are environmental protection and encouragement of the fishing and agricultural industries.

In an already-scheduled special election which will be conducted simultaneously with the District 46 election, Hancock County voters will choose a new East District constable.

Those running include George E. Burleson, 50, of Kiln; Brian Cuevas, 21, of Kiln; Leo Ladner, 53, who was appointed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors as an interim constable; and Ted Necaise, 44, of Dedeaux.

The winner will fill the unexpired term of Paul Ladner, who resigned in April for medical reasons.

An additional race was scheduled for Beat Four Election Commissioner, but interim appointee Jean Dorsey will be unopposed. She was appointed to succeed Eugene Dillmann, who died shortly after his reelection last November.

Coss and Back will make

Plan simple fare for Halloween party treats

If there's to be a Halloween party in your home and you are helping the apple bobbles and the cider sippers plan the refreshments, remember that franks in buns will please the young folks. Easy-to-eat, familiar foods are what they prefer. Platters of plump, juicy franks tucked into buns toasted or plain - will draw the young people to the refreshment like magic. Have pickle relish, sliced pickles, mustard, catsup, shredded cheese and shredded lettuce for heaping on the franks in buns. The variety of toppings makes choosing different combinations fun. The rest of the refreshments may vary. Potato or corn chips - doughnuts - apples and cider, of course - will give variety and plenty of food for those whose hearty appetites abound after dancing, ping-pong and scary games. Fresh and fragrant bacon ups the flavor of many dishes for meals anytime of the day. A very good sandwich that eats well for luncheon, supper or a late-night snack is this bacon-cheese snack. Cooked and crumbled bacon with the sweet smoke taste is combined with shredded sharp cheddar cheese, sliced stuffed olives, and some prepared mustard. Blend the mixture together with mayonnaise and spread it on bread.

Choose from apples, nuts, raisins and the traditional hard popcorn, cookies, fruit punch, candies (individually wrapped).

By Katy McGuire

It's Hallowe'en Time again, with all the little ghosts and goblins and such planning their costumes for the "big night" and aching to take a knife to that pumpkin for the best Jack-O-Lantern on the block!

Hallowe'en has really changed over the years, hasn't it? Most of the "smaller fry" stay closer to home, for one thing, and parents worry about the "treats." I, for one, offer the trick-or-treaters apples, oranges, along with individually wrapped peppermints and other candies, for instance.

For the last few years, we haven't had many little ones roaming about, but with several new neighbors in the area, with young children, you may be sure that I'll be ready with the treats!

And, of course, with a grinning Jack-O-Lantern lighting the way to the door, for holidays always bring out the child in me that barely lurks before the surface all year 'round!

My pumpkin is already sitting on the kitchen counter, awaiting the edge of the knife—and, since I find it all but impossible to draw a straight line even on a piece of paper, my Jack-O' will no doubt wear a rakish, lopsided grin—or even a leer!

And, afterward I'll be pondering what to do with all that pumpkin, as so many of us will. Of course, there's pumpkin soup and pumpkin bread and pumpkin cookies and so on. And, I'll be stashing some away in the freezer for traditional pumpkin pie at Thanksgiving—but there's still a lot of pumpkin! Perhaps I should have bought one of the "teensie" ones at the market instead!

And, I might as well warn you that if you come around to my house, be prepared for pumpkin of some sort in one guise or another. Perhaps it will be toasted and seasoned pumpkin seeds, or pumpkin chips—fried just as one does potato chips.

Or braised pumpkin cubes with lemon accents. Some cooks mash pumpkin mixed with butter and serve as one does mashed potatoes.

And, I shall cook up that "tres simple" Creble concoction:

PUMPKIN PECAN PIE

- 1 cup. mashed, cooked pumpkin
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup corn syrup (I prefer the dark)
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Dash of salt (1/4 tsp.) optional
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup chopped pecans
9-inch unbaked pie-shall (your own, or from the store)
Whipped cream, optional but so good.

First of all, beat the eggs slightly in your mixing bowl, and add the pumpkin, sugar, corn syrup, vanilla, cinnamon and salt, mixing well together. Pour the mixture into the pie shell, and sprinkle the pecans over the top. Bake for 40 minutes, perhaps a bit longer, in a preheated 350-degree oven. (Test by inserting a knife halfway between the center and edge of the pie. If the knife comes out clean, the pie is ready.)

Chill. Serve with whipped cream atop.

St. Vincent de Paul
Thrift Shop offers bargains

I was told that I might find interesting bottles for my collection at the Saint Vincent de Paul Thrift Shop located in the Waveland Cultural Center on Coleman Avenue and next to the Waveland Library. Yes, I found some interesting bottles at "affordable prices."

Here I also found something far more interesting. I found a lovely group of dedicated women who volunteer many hours of time to pricing items, filling display racks, and selling items that have been donated to help those in need, regardless of race or creed. I would label them "unsung heroines." What motivated them?

The life of Saint Vincent de Paul who was born in France over 400 years ago reveals the influence of this dedicated saint who is recognized as the apostle of organized charity.

Vincent was born in France in 1576. When he was a young priest he was captured by pirates who sold him into slavery. He converted his master into Christianity and was set free. He then worked in a mission near Paris and organized groups to help the sick and the needy. His work made life better for the poor, the sick, the aged, and for children who were abandoned.

He founded The Daughters of Charity. With the help of these sisters the sick were nursed, the hungry fed, and homes were built for the poor. He was 84 years of age when he died in Paris. His teachings live on and untold numbers of people are helped today.

Members of our Waveland organization are attractive, energetic, and a pleasure to talk with. There is no "push to buy," prices are low, stock is attractively displayed and there is an amazing assortment of books, records, "household goods," "white elephants" and boxes of junkie, that when explored, may turn up a treasure.

A good place to pass along items no longer needed, a good place to browse - to wander here and there - and give your imagination a bit of exercise. You'll be glad you found your way to the Happy Hunting Ground!

HMC, Waveland auxiliary to x-ray Halloween treats

Ghosts, goblins, skeletons and screams are all part of Halloween fun. Unfortunately, a child's treat could be ruined by one bad trick.

That's why Hancock Medical Center and the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 invite all trick-or-treaters to enjoy Halloween at HMC.

On Tuesday, Oct. 31, from 7 to 9 p.m., Hancock Medical Center will x-ray trick-or-treat candy for metal objects. Kids get to keep their x-ray picture, and refreshments will be served.

Auxiliary chairman for the project is Pat Gillan, assisted by Oris Planchard, Ursula Fayre and Roslyn Weathers.

For more information call HMC at 467-9081, ext. 2260.

Miniature firefighters learn safety tips from Bay St. Louis Fire Department staff

BY JANET MCQUEEN

Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Andrew Lizana thinks no child is too young to learn the dangers of fire. Through the department's fire safety awareness program, pre-schoolers and elementary students are being versed in fire prevention.

In conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week, Firefighter Gayle Roy coordinated a series of educational demonstrations at six pre-schools, four elementary schools, two Girl Scout troops and a 4-H Club.

Demonstrations were presented by shift captains, including Assistant Chief Mike Willumitis, Lt. Alphonse Sheppard and Lt. Gary Maurice; and firefighters Pam San Filippo, Terry McCrory, Rodney Auguzin and Arthur Farve.

Approximately 1,771 children and 64 adults viewed the program, which focused on first aid procedures, firefighting equipment and bunker gear and escape and "stop, drop and roll" techniques. Films were shown and the fire station was toured.

Far and away the 'show stealer' with the pre-schoolers was demonstrating the fire hose, followed by operating the Jaws of Life, according to Lizana.

"It is often the younger children who smell smoke in a house fire," said Lizana. "We have found that if we educate them in how to react, we can cut down on structure fires."

Twice yearly all schools are "surprised" with a practice fire drill by the fire department.

Groups participating in the educational demonstrations were Tender Love and Care, The Little School, Child Development Center, Methodist Day Care, Bay Catholic Pre-School, Bay-Waveland Headstart; North Bay Elementary, Coast Episcopal School, Bay Catholic Elementary, Waveland Elementary, Girl Scout Troop 066, Brownie Troop 102 and Hard Luck 4-H Club.

Lizana commended his staff for their efforts in the project.

FIRE SAFETY TIPS

October is Fire Prevention Month and is emphasized in the schools. But fire safety shouldn't stop at school — you and your children should know a home escape plan and review the plan routinely. Here are some tips:

- Make a fire drill fun, but serious at the same time. Making a game of it will avoid frightening children. Use races. Try a blindfold race — can you find your way out when wearing a blindfold?
- Use the smoke alarm to start the drill. This acquaints the family with the sound of the alarm — and gives you a chance to test it.
- Sleep with bedroom doors closed. Smoke is the greatest enemy in a night fire. Teach children that the door is their castle gate to keep them safe.
- Teach children two ways out of each room. Tell them to feel the door as high as they can reach. If it is warm or hot, don't open it. If it's cool — open it cautiously.
- Stay low in smoke. The cooler and fresher air is near the floor.
- Teach children how to open windows and take out screens. And teach them to stay near the window if they can't open it. Be sure children have something to climb upon to reach the window.
- Once out, stay out! Never, never, never re-enter a burning building for anything or anyone!
- Have a meeting place outside. Go to the meeting place and stay there until everyone is found. (Fire fighters have died searching for people who were already safe.)
- Practice calling the fire department. Use a role-playing technique to help children learn their home address and how to report an emergency clearly. Teach them not to hang up until the dispatcher tells them to.
- Visit the fire department. Fire fighters enjoy meeting kids and teaching fire safety.

Fire safety lessons

Special education students offered variety of courses at Hancock Vo-Tech Center

Sam Harvill, vocational resource educator at the Hancock County Vo-Tech Center, assesses a student's interest and aptitude for vocational training and will provide special accommodations and services necessary in order to see that any special education student successfully completes a vocational program.

Services are designed so that a student will receive good training and will have an opportunity to lead a productive life after graduation.

The Skills Assessment Module Tests are being administered by Mr. Harvill to all handicapped students in the Hancock County and Bay St.

Louis Waveland School Districts who enroll in vocational training courses.

Courses offered at the Pearl River Community College, Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center include: automotive, building trades, drafting, electricity/electronics, metal trades and welding.

These courses will help students develop their vocational skills in an interesting and practical way. Upon completion of the two-year program, the student will be able to continue his vocational training at Pearl River Community College or join the work force at the job entry level.

Hancock County/Bay Waveland School Districts are committed to serving all students. Any handicapped students who are interested in vocational training are encouraged to call the Vo-Tech Center at 467-3568 to discuss a realistic vocational plan.

SENIOR CITIZENS HAPPENINGS

By Eve McDonald

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Friday is our special Halloween Party here at the Center in the cafeteria from 12:15-1:30 p.m. Come in costume as we will have prizes and games and refreshments.

Arlene Johnson, program specialist, is pulling out all of the stops to make sure this is a fun event!

VOTE - AGAIN!

Start reading about our new state senator NOW. If we don't read and listen we don't get the best person to represent us.

It is important to Hancock County that we have someone up there who is capable and who is our choice after we have really studied the people running.

We seem to be getting good people to run for office and we want the best.

The District Attorney race is also important. We will be voting for him too. The three men running all seem to be qualified, so let's look into the issue.

FOOT DOCTOR

Dr. Lynch will be here Friday morning. Call Rosine if you need an appointment, 467-9292. The fee is $15.

MEDICAID

Medicaid coverage has been expanded to include persons with a little higher income than previously the cap.

We will have a person at the Center in the conference room who will be taking applications and explaining the expanded coverage. RSVP set this up for you and we are working with you to be sure as many as are eligible receive this benefit. They will be here every second Thursday from 8:30-12:30 p.m.

Mark your calendar for November 9th if you think you may be eligible or if you know someone else who has low income.

If the total income is less than $412 for an individual and $525 for a couple - be sure to come in.

COMPUTERS FOR SCHOOLS

We are collecting Jitney Jungle cash register receipts for the local school system.

If you aren't saving for another school and want to participate in helping the schools, send or bring us your receipts.

Some have been confused because they thought the whole register receipt would be in red ink but it is only a small line at the top and bottom of the receipt that is red. So, bring in your receipts and help our schools get computers. Thanks!

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Please give us any old Christmas cards you have as the seniors are making small Christmas boxes out of them! JoAnn Lagasse is teaching this craft in the conference room and the boxes will go to the nursing homes along with the Christmas arrangements for the doors on the patients rooms.

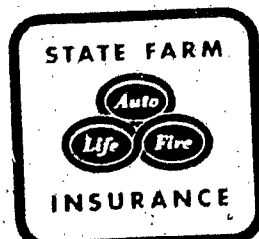

The RSVP volunteers, who are also our seniors, are really a great bunch who used to go singing at the VA so have been together for a long time.

Electric City's Project Share collects Thanksgiving food

Electric City, appliance and electronic retailer, is joining efforts with the state division of the Salvation Army to make Thanksgiving a much "fuller" holiday for needy Mississippians.

Names Project Share, this program, instituted by Electric City, will provide people from Jackson to the Gulf Coast the opportunity to contribute food to the less fortunate by means of an easily identifiable red, white and blue printed bag inserted in the Sun Herald, Hattiesburg American and the Clarion Ledger newspapers, all co-sponsors of Project Share.

Electric City is requesting that newspaper readers fill the bag with non-perishable items and drop it off at any of their 20 store locations across Mississippi before November 17. In turn, the Salvation Army will pick-up the food at Electric City's hub locations and transport the food to the needy.

To assist this project, Jerry Clower, Electric City's spokesperson, has joined in the crusade to feed the hungry by tapping a public service announcement that can be seen across the state. Furthermore, to insure that people are made aware of Project Share, Electric City will run newspaper ads announcing the program and intends to notify all media for additional news coverage.

MINOR PAIN SHOULDN'T BE TREATED LIGHTLY.

PAIN OR STIFFNESS IN YOUR JOINTS COULD BE A WARNING OF ARTHRITIS.

Pain is your body's natural early warning system. It warns you of trouble before the damage becomes too severe. If you have pain or stiffness in a joint that won't go away, it could be a warning of developing arthritis. Over-the-counter pain relievers only mask the pain without treating the problem. Usually, only a specially-trained physician can do that. And although there's no cure for arthritis, in many cases the earlier it's professionally diagnosed and treated, the more that can be done to slow its effects.

How to prevent your car from failing on winter's first cold day

As the mercury drops to levels below freezing, medical experts issue warnings about the potential health dangers. When we heed the advice to take necessary precautions, we realize how vulnerable man really is.

We also need to realize that machine is vulnerable as well. This is evidenced by the tens of thousands of people whose cars fail them on that first cold morning.

Most of these emergencies should not be attributed to the weather but, instead, to neglected mechanical maintenance. Most car failure can be avoided by basic preventive measures, says Car Care Council, who offer this check list for cold weather dependability:

- 1) Battery: is it fully charged? If not, either the battery or charging system may need attention.
- 2) Cooling system: is your anti-freeze still strong enough to provide protection against freezing? Are belts and hoses okay? Are thermostat and pressure cap functioning like they should?
- 3) Engine: Time for a tune up? The best battery cannot start an engine that needs maintenance. Malfunctioning emission controls are found to be a cause of erratic engine operation in cold weather.

4) Oil and filter: An engine with dirty oil won't turn over as easily on a cold morning. Oil and filter should be changed as part of seasonal service.

5) Tires: Avoid trouble by going into winter with good tires, properly balanced and aligned.

6) Brakes: For safe, smooth stopping, check brakes before ice and snow cover roads.

7) Lights: All lights, including flashers, should be checked; burned out bulbs should be replaced.

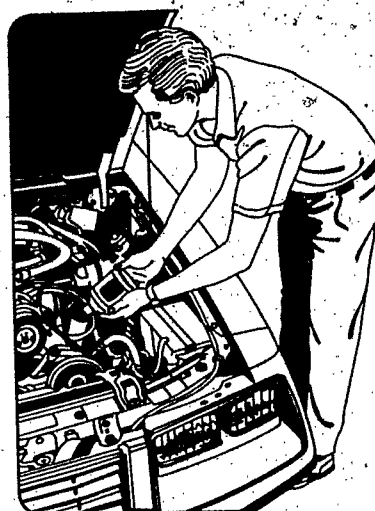

8) Windshield wipers: Replace worn blades, ideally with winter blades which repel ice and snow. Keep a spare jug of windshield washer fluid in the trunk.

9) Inside the trunk: How's your spare? Do you have a jack? A windshield scraper?

Car Care Council emphasizes that any car should start and run dependably in even the coldest of temperatures (sometimes with the help of auxiliary heaters in frigid weather), but the decisive factor between "go" and "no go" usually is preventive maintenance.

For more information on cold weather care operation, write for the booklet: Are You Sure You and Your Car are Ready for Winter? Send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed #10 envelope to: Winter, Car Care Council, Dept. M, 600 Renaissance Center, Detroit, MI 48243.

Avoid winter driving hazards

The key to safe winter driving is foresight. With the colder months approaching, advance preparation is essential for taking on winter's hazards.

By taking a few precautions and carrying a few important items in your car, you and your family can avoid many winter dangers. The makers of Prestone offer this checklist to keep you driving safely.

• Always carry a can of de-icer for the windshield. It contains antifreeze to prevent ice from reforming, and a non-streaking formula to keep windows clear.

A rugged scraper top to break up ice and an extra large spray button that can be depressed without removing gloves are also beneficial to the winter driver.

• It's good idea to fill up with a windshield washing anti-freeze. The windshield may be clear of ice and snow, but dirt kicked up from passing cars can greatly reduce your visibility.

• It's important to flush and refill your radiator in the fall to protect against cooling system failure during the winter.

• A bag of sand is useful to increase traction when snow or ice cause tires to lose their grip on the road. Keep a collapsible shovel in your trunk to shovel the sand and dig out of a tough spot.

For cars with rear wheel drive, it's a good idea to load up the trunk with a heavy object like a sand bag. The weight in the rear of the trunk can prevent "fishtailing" in icy conditions. Be sure that the weight is firmly positioned in the front section of the trunk.

Taking these few simple precautionary steps can save you and your family from a harrowing winter driving experience.

Don't let leaky radiator cap leave you stranded

The scene is a familiar one: A car on the side of the road, hood up, a geyser steaming from the radiator. A typical summer scene, right?

Wrong. This scene could come true any time of the year, stranding you on the roadside, the end result of a bad radiator or cooling system cap, according to Swedish automaker Saab.

A car's radiator cap is one of those many little "out of sight, out of mind" parts of your car you probably don't think about. But it does a very big job, holding your car's coolant/antifreeze mixture under pressure in your radiator and engine block.

A leaky radiator cap, or a cap that is otherwise in poor condition, can cause your cooling system to be improperly pressurized. The consequences of an improperly pressurized system could include causing your engine to overheat, causing your engine's coolant hoses to rupture if the cooling system pressure is too high, damaging your heater core, or damaging the radiator itself.

One way to tell if the cap is not in good shape is simply to inspect it, something you can do yourself. Before you remove the cap, however, it's best to wait till your engine cools. Boiling coolant can cause serious burns, warns Saab.

When the engine is cool, slowly remove the cap and check the rubber gasket inside. If it is cracked or looks deteriorated, consider replacing it before it causes trouble.

Also check to ensure that the cap fits tightly, and that someone, somewhere along the way, has not replaced it incorrectly. If the cap is cross-threaded, meaning that it has not been replaced correctly, it will probably be sitting at an angle, and possibly leaking.

If you suspect that the cap is damaged or should be replaced, you can have your service station or dealer make a pressure test on the cap, which requires a special device—and the now-how to use it.

If you have any doubt about the cap's reliability, have it replaced at the first opportunity, and save yourself some trouble down the road, advises Saab.

Learn about your fuses

Car Care Council offers this advice on fuses:

1. Know the location of the fuse panel in your car. Your owner's manual should show you.

2. Keep replacement fuses in your glove compartment. Check to be sure what type of fuses are used in your particular vehicle. Some use the glass tube type, others use a ceramic fuse (most cars today use the plug-in type).

3. Learn how to replace them. This information may not be included in the owner's manual. If you're unfamiliar with the procedure, have your dealer or mechanic show you.

Precautionary notes from the Council:

If a fuse blows more than once, find out why. Do not replace a blown fuse with one of heavier rating.

If a fuse link wire blows, you have a major short circuit. Do not attempt to replace that wire until the faulty circuit is repaired. Then use a fusible link of the correct rating.

Do not use a screwdriver or other metal tool to remove a fuse. It could cause a short circuit and damage to electrical components. If your car uses the tubular glass fuse, keep a fuse puller in the glove compartment.

Tips on finding a competent mechanic

If it's autumn, it must be time for car maintenance. While some people jump in, make countless trips to auto parts stores and do their own work, other motorists concentrate on football games and fall leaves, wishing the whole issue would just go away.

Whatever your feelings about car maintenance, one thing is certain: Vehicles that are not serviced and prepared for winter conditions stand a good chance of breaking down sometime during the cold months. An inconvenience during the summer, a breakdown in the winter could be deadly.

record with local consumer groups, the availability of modern equipment, a courteous staff, basic orderliness, the presence of customer service awards, professional diplomas and certificates, and signs of advanced training.

Shop policies should be posted or someone should be willing to explain them to you.

3. An increasingly popular way to judge the competence of individual mechanics is to look for standardized credentials. Certification is especially useful to consumers who do not already know a competent mechanic.

The National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) is unique in offering the only industrywide credential for automotive technicians. Technicians certified by ASE have passed national competency exams and have at least two years of on-the-job experience. Tests are given semiannually at over 400 locations.

Certified technicians wear blue and white shoulder insignia and carry personalized credentials listing their specialties (brakes, engine repair, and so on).

Employers often display technicians' ASE credentials in the customer service area and post an ASE sign on the premises.

4. A windshield wipers should be inspected and new blades installed if the old ones show signs of wear. The washer fluid reservoir should be filled with a good grade of washer solvent capable of resisting freezing. (Never add engine antifreeze to the washer reservoir—it can splash and ruin your vehicle's finish.)

5. Give your car a good washing and thorough waxing to help protect its finish from the road salts and chemicals you will undoubtedly encounter.

6. Headlights, turn signals, flashers, back-up and brake lights should be checked and replaced if burned out.

7. A weak battery and loose or corroded cables are certain to cause trouble in colder weather when you will need maximum cranking power.

Clean cables and battery posts; tighten all connections. The alternator drive belt should be inspected for tightness and condition. Replace if glazed or frayed.

8. Tires should be inspected for nicks, cuts, tread wear and proper pressure. (Let the tires cool down before measuring the air pressure.) Cupping or uneven wear indicates worn parts or an alignment/balancing problem which should be corrected at a good shop.

Those slick tires that just barely got you through the summer will be virtually useless in freezing rain and snow. Replace them with snow tires or all-season radials as appropriate. (Do-it-yourselfers, take note: Tire rotation patterns vary today—check your manual.)

Don't forget to examine your spare tire and make certain the jack is free of rust and that it is in working condition.

9. The engine cooling system needs an inspection: also. Check your radiator hoses for cracking and swelling. Look for leaks at hose connections.

If it's been more than two years, drain, flush and refill your radiator with the appropriate mix of coolant/antifreeze. (Caution: Allow the system to cool before removing the radiator cap.) Carefully remove bugs, leaves, etc., from the radiator grill.

Inspect the condition and tightness of drive belts. If your heater and defroster are not working properly, now is the time to have them repaired.

10. It is wise to examine the exhaust system for overall condition and rust-through. Inspect your trunk and floor boards for small holes, too, since a leaking exhaust system could spell trouble for occupants of tightly closed vehicles.

11. If you have noticed a change in your brakes (pulsations, longer stopping distances, etc.), have them examined.

12. If you must drive in extreme weather, pack a survival kit. Include such items as blankets, boots, a small shovel, tire chains and a container of gravel or kitty litter for traction, emergency flares, a good flashlight, and perhaps even some freeze-dried food and bottled water. A small CB radio is a wise investment.

13. Finally, do not forget the two items that everyone seems to put off: Oil change and tune-up. A survey of ASE-certified technicians, conducted by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence, revealed that owners unnecessarily reduce their cars' lives by delaying these routine maintenance tasks.

Caring for fuel delivery system

The last thing you need during the cold of winter is a faulty fuel delivery system. Therefore, it's important to pay special attention and take certain precautions before winter appears.

Today's gasolines can leave deposits in a car's gas line that may inhibit performance and cause hesitation. In addition, during cold weather, water can freeze in the gas line and prevent your car from starting.

By taking preventive steps and adding a product like STP Gas Treatment regularly to a full tank of gas, you can decrease accumulated deposits and help eliminate water in your car's fuel delivery system.

Your car may be telling you that it needs gas treatment if you notice any of the following signs:

- A decrease in power and acceleration.
- Tough starts.
- A noticeable reduction in fuel economy.

Using a gas additive can help solve these problems by keeping your car's intake valves, carburetors and fuel injectors clean.

To help vehicle owners get their cars and light trucks ready for winter driving, the non-profit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) offers the following car care tips and advice about finding competent auto repair. Some of the maintenance tips are easy to do others may require a skilled auto technician.

1. Whether or not you plan to do the work yourself, read your owner's manual. In addition to containing information about the vehicle's components, the manual lists the manufacturer's recommended service intervals. Follow these schedules.

2. If you simply aren't the do-it-yourself type, find a good repair shop and become a regular customer. Among the ways to identify a reputable establishment: Word-of-mouth recommendations; a good relationship with the shop; a good reputation with the community; a good reputation with the community; a good reputation with the community.

3. If you simply aren't the do-it-yourself type, find a good repair shop and become a regular customer. Among the ways to identify a reputable establishment: Word-of-mouth recommendations; a good relationship with the shop; a good reputation with the community; a good reputation with the community; a good reputation with the community.

4. A windshield wipers should be inspected and new blades installed if the old ones show signs of wear. The washer fluid reservoir should be filled with a good grade of washer solvent capable of resisting freezing. (Never add engine antifreeze to the washer reservoir—it can splash and ruin your vehicle's finish.)

5. Give your car a good washing and thorough waxing to help protect its finish from the road salts and chemicals you will undoubtedly encounter.

6. Headlights, turn signals, flashers, back-up and brake lights should be checked and replaced if burned out.

7. A weak battery and loose or corroded cables are certain to cause trouble in colder weather when you will need maximum cranking power. Clean cables and battery posts; tighten all connections. The alternator drive belt should be inspected for tightness and condition. Replace if glazed or frayed.

8. Tires should be inspected for nicks, cuts, tread wear and proper pressure. (Let the tires cool down before measuring the air pressure.) Cupping or uneven wear indicates worn parts or an alignment/balancing problem which should be corrected at a good shop.

Those slick tires that just barely got you through the summer will be virtually useless in freezing rain and snow. Replace them with snow tires or all-season radials as appropriate. (Do-it-yourselfers, take note: Tire rotation patterns vary today—check your manual.)

Don't forget to examine your spare tire and make certain the jack is free of rust and that it is in working condition.

9. The engine cooling system needs an inspection: also. Check your radiator hoses for cracking and swelling. Look for leaks at hose connections.

If it's been more than two years, drain, flush and refill your radiator with the appropriate mix of coolant/antifreeze. (Caution: Allow the system to cool before removing the radiator cap.) Carefully remove bugs, leaves, etc., from the radiator grill.

Inspect the condition and tightness of drive belts. If your heater and defroster are not working properly, now is the time to have them repaired.

10. It is wise to examine the exhaust system for overall condition and rust-through. Inspect your trunk and floor boards for small holes, too, since a leaking exhaust system could spell trouble for occupants of tightly closed vehicles.

11. If you have noticed a change in your brakes (pulsations, longer stopping distances, etc.), have them examined.

12. If you must drive in extreme weather, pack a survival kit. Include such items as

Hancock to host Bay High in local clash Friday night

BY DENA BISNETTE
Two local rivals clash Friday as Bay High travels to Hancock North Central.

Hancock Head Coach Irvin Favre, whose team was upset in a pick-up game with Wayne County last week, sees the Bay High Tigers as another upset possibility.

"This game is always an old, established rivalry. Bay has always been a hard-hitting, aggressive team and has never changed from that position," Favre said.

Right now, though, Favre said he is more concerned with how his team has been playing.

"We've been playing good defense, but we haven't been doing that well on offense, running or blocking."

"I'm very disappointed in that aspect of how we're playing."

"We were just not ready to mentally last week. They were not as good as Hancock, but on that night that you're not ready, they're going to dominate," he said, recalling the Wayne County game.

Despite Bay High's 0-8 record, Favre considers the Tigers to be "a pretty good football team that's had a lot of bad breaks."

Those bad breaks have included injuries and a time when flu kept several starters off the field. Hancock has also had some problems with injuries, but even Terrence Goff, whose playing time was limited last week by an aggravated hamstring pull, should see action this week.

Tiger Head Coach Dodd Lee considers Hancock one of several tough teams bringing up the rear of the Bay High schedule.

"He's got a real good team and a real good program. They're strong on defense and well-balanced offensively," Lee commented.

He called the Tigers "fair to middling" in condition this week.

"We're kind of banged up. We've just had two tough ones," Lee said, referring to the games against Stone County and St. Martin.

"We do a lot of the same things they do, but we haven't had a good week for practice. I'll bet they did, coming off their first loss."

However, Lee said he was encouraged by his team's last two performances.

"We have really played hard last couple of weeks. I've been proud of the effort and just hope we can give it a third week."

Kick-off time is 7:30 p.m. at Hancock North Central field.

SSC to travel to Pearl River Central

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will try to get back on the winning track Friday as they travel to Pearl River Central to face the Blue Devils.

After losing a heart-breaker 31-28 against the d'Iberville Warriors last week, thus ending their contention for a playoff berth, the Rocks will have to regroup to work for a winning season.

The 5-and-3 Rocks have lost three of their last four outings, winning only against St. Martin at home, and losing to Hancock, Slidell Salmen and d'Iberville on the road.

"We're fighting for a winning season," noted Rock head football coach Ken Lyons, "after missing the playoffs by the skin of our teeth." And then he added: "If you miss the train, you miss the train...it's a game of inches."

It's been four years since the Rock-A-Chaws faced the Blue

Devils, and they have been re-added to the schedule because of SSC's entrance into Division VIII play.

Pearl River boasts a very physical line, "probably the best we've played all year," Lyons said. Although the Blue Devils are young in the skill positions, they are well represented by quarterback Bobby Thaxton and receiver Mark Montgomery.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

PRC Homecoming slated

Pearl River Community College 1989 Homecoming, set for Saturday, Oct. 28 will be full of activities including an alumni luncheon where PRC's Alumni of the Year and Sports Hall of Fame inductees will be recognized.

The nursing classes of 1969, '79 and '89 will meet at 9:30 a.m. and the Theta of Mississippi, the alumni chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, is scheduled to meet for 10 a.m.

PRC's alumni house will be open at 9 a.m. and it will serve as the hospitality and information center. The alumni house is located in the president's old home in the middle of campus. The Baptist Student Union and PRC bookstore will be open from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m.

The PRC Alumni Association will stage its annual meeting at the 11:30 a.m. luncheon in the Marvin R. White Coliseum.

The cost of the meal is $10 with the net proceeds to fund the Alumni Association Scholarships. To make reservations for the luncheon, call 795-6801, ext. 383.

The Sports Hall of Fame will also be recognized.

Raiders saw strongest opponent in ParkView

The Coast Episcopal Raiders lost their final game of the 1989 football season 26-3 against ParkView Academy from Port Sulphur, La.

In the first half the game was very tight with the score 0-0 with three minutes left in the half. Unfortunately, ParkView scored twice quickly and the half ended with the Raiders down 12-0.

Raider coach Jack Hutchison said ParkView's players were the best and most talented the Raiders had seen all season.

The Raiders' only score came on a 37-yard field goal by senior Billy Guice. Outstanding Raider players were sophomore Gib Werby who earned 103 yards rushing on 32 carries.

Other leading rushers were senior Scott Covode, 30 yards, and senior Jamie White, 17 yards.

Freshman quarterback Tyrone Jones had six completions in 14 attempts for 105 yards. He completed the season with 1,171 yards passing.

"Overall, even at 0-10, the season was a success," said

Hutchison. "In each game we showed some improvement and a number of young players gained experience. Nine of the 10 teams we played had winning records and seven of the 10 will be in either the Mississippi or Alabama playoffs."

PRCC Alumni Golf Tournament slated

Pearl River Community College's third annual Alumni Golf Tournament will be held Friday, Oct. 27 at the Lake Hillsdale Golf Course.

Chamber hosts invitational golf tourney

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chamber of Commerce will host its first annual Invitational Four-Ball Golf Tournament Nov. 10, 11 and 12 at the Broadwater Beach Sun Course. The tournament will serve as a fundraiser for the chamber, according to chairman Bob Collins.

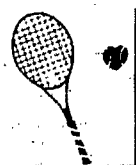

Participants will be offered a practice round on Friday, Nov. 10, and 18-hole medal play by flights on Nov. 11 and 12, with cash and merchandise prizes up for grabs, Collins said.

Play will begin with a 10 a.m. shotgun start on Saturday and Sunday.

Ray counted as lead sprinter on Delta State swim team

Delta State University opens its 1989-90 swimming and diving seasons Oct. 28 and head coach Ronnie Mayers is looking for many good things from both the men and women's teams. The men, who held their intra-squad meet Thursday night, return with letter winners from last season's team that compiled a 5-8 overall record. The Statesmen showcase a squad that could be described as young but experienced.

DSU's lone senior, Philip Vowell, returns for his final season as one of the keys for the Statesmen in the middle distance events. Along with providing leadership in the water, Vowell is an academic All-GSC selection.

Sophomores Tedd Gilbert and Lonnie Ray of Bay St. Louis are ready to play a larger role this season. Gilbert, the conference champion in the 500 and 1,000-yard events a year ago, will contribute in both sprints and middle distances this season. Ray, who holds the Mississippi State record for the 100-yard free, will be used primarily as a sprinter.

Junior All-New South Conference back stroker Keith Salter returns. Salter, who captured the conference title a year ago, will again be counted on as one of DSU's leaders.

Juniors Bradley Dickerson, Roland Shapley and sophomore Patrick Melton are expected to shoulder a large portion of responsibility. Dickerson is a two-year letterman and will race in the 50-free and 100-fly events.

Shapley, a transfer from LSU last spring, will concentrate his efforts on the breaststroke this season.

Melton, the only Cleveland native on the men's roster, will swim in the distance events.

Freshmen Eric Jewkes, Mike Mahoney, along with diver Chris Howell may be the brightest surprises for the Statesmen this year. Both Jewkes and Mahoney have an opportunity to make nationals if they perform to their potential, while Howell has the capability of being a strong contributor this season.

Freshmen signees Patrick Rapicault, Jason Sides, Kevin Nash and Jimmy Walker all wait in the wings for their shot at contributing for this season's team.

Mayers feels good about the team's chances this year. "This season we have a total of 12 dual meets and hopefully we have a shot at winning at least seven of those," he added. "We have doubled the size of our team from last season and that should definitely help our depth situation. As team, we should be much improved as our guys have been training very hard in preparation for the season."

Time Out

By Dena Bisnette

I was driving around the other night and saw some youngsters practicing soccer at the Waveland Civic Center field.

Most of the fields are well-fenced but, again, I started thinking about the possibility of children in the street. The darkness comes earlier now and kids who walk to and from practice aren't always careful about wearing light-colored, easy to see clothing.

It's also a bit harder to see the many bicyclists in the area, but they are a little easier to spot, in general, because they use reflectors. Some even have reflective stripes on their clothing and helmets.

I've also seen large groups of people walking home from some of the football games I've attended.

It all leads me to repeat one of the most important messages I can—please drive carefully.

Results from the Court Observance 5K Run this past weekend at Biloxi City Hall showed Jim Turcotte of Bay St. Louis holding the Grand Master title again with a time of 19:49.

In the 45-49 men's division, Michael Michack of Pass Christian finished second with a time of 21:31.

If you want a sneak preview of the University of Southern Mississippi's basketball team before the season opens Nov. 11 with a home game against the New Zealand National Team, a benefit scrimmage has been scheduled for 7 p.m. Nov. 1 in the B. Frank Brown Gym at Gulfport. Admission is $3 and proceeds will benefit the sponsor of the event, the Gulfport-Long Beach Optimist Club.

Hancock County Recreation Association is taking registration for a men's basketball league and a 35-and-over men's league through Nov. 3.

Any team or person interested in playing should call 467-0470 after 6:30 p.m. or mail name, address and telephone number to 1017 Lincoln Drive, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520, so an association member can contact them.

The first game for the men's league is tentatively scheduled for Nov. 5.

This Sunday's Cycles Plus Bicycle Club ride is the Orange Grove Special, about 45 miles of rolling terrain. Riders will meet at Norwood Village Shopping Center on Highway 49 north of Gulfport at 9 a.m.

Anyone who is not already a member of Cycles Plus Bicycle Club and would like to participate in the ride should contact Cycles Plus Bicycle Shop at 467-1706.

The Sea Coast Echo got a letter from Susan Monjure of Metairie, La., one of the people who came to Bay St. Louis recently for a small reunion with some of her high school friends. She's sent us the following fishing story.

"All the men and just two of the ladies went fishing from a pier. They came home with many average sized speckled trout."

"But, the largest fish, a beautiful flounder (four lbs., eight oz.) was caught by our lady angler, Yvette Gonzales."

"The men had to swallow their pride for a day."

"In spite of that we all had a great time in your lovely city."

It sounds to me like Yvette Gonzales might have had the best time of them all.

Several hunting seasons are now open. They include squirrel, rabbit, gallinule and several varieties of rail. Bag limits vary according to species.

Good hunting.

By the way, I want to do a story on active professional athletes who grew up in Hancock County and started their athletic careers here.

Anybody with information on this topic can call me at 467-5474 or can mail me the athlete's name, sport, team, high school and college and a little background information to Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520. Be sure to include daytime and evening phone numbers because I'll need to call you back.

I'm also still looking for short items to go in TIME OUT.

Bassin' with the pros

The spoon-jigging season is here

If it's autumn, then it's spoon-jigging time for bass. That's the opinion of Johnson Outboards Pro Staff member and former Lake Sam Rayburn guide David Wharton.

October is among the best months of the year to fish the little metal lures. "Bass are feeding heavily and moving toward creek and river channels," says Wharton, "and spoons look and act like injured baitfish. They're the perfect lure under these conditions."

To find moving bass, Wharton suggests cruising river and creek channels while studying a depthfinder. Channel bends and long points are prime places to find fish. On bright, calm days, the fish will be easier to find because they tend to suspend, while on windy, overcast days they'll be closer to the bottom.

"Bass are simply following shad this time of year," Wharton explains. "The more cover on the bottom, the longer the bass will stay in an area. A primary depth zone to begin looking is from about 15 to 25 feet."

Wharton's spoon choice is a 3/4-ounce model that he prefers to fish vertically right over the side of the boat.

"You can actually watch your spoon on your depthfinder," says the Johnson pro. "You need to watch so you know when the lure is at the same depth as the fish."

Wharton likes to jig a spoon rapidly, but he cautions about jerking the rod tip in wide arcs. It's much better, he says, to use short but faster wrist movement.

"The reason for this," Wharton explains, "is because the spoon actually jumps upward much more than you may think it does. It can leap six feet when you really snap your rod tip upward. You're taking the spoon away from the bass, rather than keeping it right in front of them."

When letting the spoon fall again, Wharton recommends dropping your rod tip rapidly so the lure falls back naturally with a side to side motion. Keeping a tight line on the lure so you can feel it fall actually prevents the spoon from having any action.

"There are two types of strikes you may get when you're fishing a spoon," says Wharton. "One is a definite thump you'll feel as the lure falls. The other is simply a vague sensation the lure has stopped falling. In either case, you need to set the hook, even if you're not sure what you felt."

Wharton's rod choice for spoon fishing is a relatively light action six-footer with a limber tip that flexes easily each time he jigs the spoon. He uses line testing between 14 and 20 pounds, depending on the amount of cover present.

MILITARY MENTIONS

PVT CARTER

Pvt. John S. Carter has completed basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

Carter is the son of John N. and Lujan Carter of Bay St. Louis.

His wife, Christy, is the daughter of Matthew J. and Kathryn Gleber of Bay St. Louis.

He is a 1982 graduate of Bay Senior High School, Bay St. Louis, and a 1987 graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg.

PVT BOYD

Pvt. Mark A. Boyd has completed a wheeled-vehicle mechanic course at the U.S. Army Training Center, Fort Jackson, S.C.

During the course, students were trained to perform maintenance and assist in the repair of automotive vehicles and associated equipment.

Boyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Boyd Sr. of Pass Christian.

"Historically, the jigging spoon is not a big bass lure," concludes Wharton, "but it will catch a lot of bass. This time of year, the fish are often concentrated in large schools, and it's really fun to catch them almost as fast as you can get your lure down to them, no matter what size they are."

Service experts at Onboard Marine Corporation recommend a fall and winter check of the gearcase lubricant of your outboard motor, and to add fluid, if necessary.

Autumn is a good time to drain and refill the gearcase with the specified lube, for if any water has worked its way into the gearcase during the summer, it could freeze, expand, and crack the case during the cold winter

Then turn them in to us to receive Apple computers, printers, educational software and teacher training - at absolutely NO COST to the school or school district! Our "Apples for the Students" Program will be in effect over the next 28 weeks, from today through April, 1990. All Jitney Jungle "pink" register tapes submitted within these dates are eligible for the program. We at Jitney Jungle recognize the growing need for computer equipment in all of our schools, and wanted to sponsor a program that would have the maximum benefit to this area's schools. The program is unique, because Apple computers are overwhelmingly the choice of schools for educating students. It's easy as 1-2-3:
1. Collect Jitney "pink" register tapes.
2. Donate tapes to the school of your choice.
3. Jitney will ship a FREE computer directly to the school at no cost.

In an already-scheduled election which took place simultaneously with the District 46 State Representative election Nov. 7, Hancock County voters will choose a new District constable. Those running are George E. Burleson, Brian Cuevas of Kinner, who was appointed Hancock County Supervisor as an interim constable; and Ted Dedeaux. The winner will be elected for a four-year term of Paul Burleson, who resigned in April 1989.

Burleson, 50, is a native who has lived in Hancock County since 1967. He is a graduate of the Police Department and has worked as a sheriff's deputy since 1981. Cuevas, 21, is an auxiliary deputy for Hancock County Sheriffment and is a graduate of North Central College. He has about three years' experience as a junior deputy. Ladner, 53, is a County native who has lived in Rotten Bayou. He is a graduate of the Mississippi Law Enforcement Academy in 1981 and served four years with the Harris County Sheriff's Office.
